Let's Start!

You need help to carry your groceries ... How do you ask for help?

Learning Outcome

Accurately use basic information in simple situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you accept help?
- How do you say no in a polite way?
With your partner, make a list of ways you can politely refuse help.

Can Do Statements

- I can ask and say what people do or don't do.
- I can accept and decline offers of help.
- I can use who, what, when, where questions.

Let's Explore!

Greg and Henry are at the cashier. They meet a person who needs help.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Cashier: That's $54.96.
Henry: Where is my wallet? Greg, can you pass her your credit card?
Greg: Again???? Now you owe me $27.00. That's half.
Henry: You get the groceries.
Greg: Who makes the soup?
Henry: You don't. I do!
Greg: Good. You're a very good cook.
Fiona: Hi guys. Where are the groceries?
Henry: Here. We have a lot of things to carry!
Fiona: Do you need any help with the bags?
Greg: Thank you, we're okay.
Fiona: No problem!
Henry: Can we help you with anything, Fiona?
Fiona: You can cook me a meal!
Greg: Ha, ha, ha! Henry can do that!

Learning Points

Accept and Decline Offers of Help

You can accept or say no (refuse) when someone wants to help you.
This is how:

Accept Offers of Help	Refuse Offers of Help
Thank you so much!	Thank you, but I'm OK.
That's very helpful of you!	I don't need help, thanks.
Thanks for the offer!	I appreciate the offer, but ...

Wh- questions

You use Wh- questions when you want information.

Wh- Question Words	Explanation	Example
who	asks about a person	Who is at the door?
what	asks about a thing	What is on the table?
where	asks about a place	Where do you live?
when	asks about a time	When do you leave for work?
