Let's Start!

Can you hand me the beans? Greg and Henry want to make soup!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use basic information in simple situations.

Ask your partner:

- When do you ask for help?
- With a partner, make a list of situations when you ask for help.

Can Do Statements

- I can ask for and offer help.
- I can accept offers of help.
- I can use count and non-count naming words.

Let's Explore!

Greg and Henry have a salad. What about soup? Can I help you make it?

* "Can I help you" is a polite phrase you use to offer help.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Henry: Now we have everything for a salad. What else do you want to make?
Greg: How about soup?
Henry: OK, I have a great recipe for vegetable soup.
Greg: Yum! Can I help you make it?
Henry: Yes, that would be great, thanks. We need tomatoes and beans.
Greg: The cans of beans are up there.
Henry: Sorry, I can't reach. Can you help me reach them? I'm short. You're tall.
Greg: Sure, here you go.
Henry: Thanks. I also put corn in the soup.
Greg: I'll get some for you. Where is the corn?
Henry: With the vegetables.
Greg: OK, meet you in line at the cashier.
Henry: Perfect.

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Ask For and Offer Help

You can ask for help in a polite way when you need assistance.
Look at the ways to ask for help and offer help.

Ask for Help	Offer Help	Accept Help
Can you ... ?	I can help you with that.	Thank you, that's nice.
Can you help me ... ?	I'll ... for you.	Yes, that would be great.
Could I ask you to ... ?	Want me to ... ?	Sure, thanks!

Count and Non-Count Nouns

Count nouns are things you can count. They are a number. Count nouns can be singular or plural nouns.

Non-count nouns are amounts. They are singular nouns.

Notice: The non-count corn does NOT change. It stays the same.

Count	Non-Count	Example
singular = tomato plural = tomatoes	corn	Can you hand me the tomato? Please add corn to the salad.
